Dear IIMB Community,

We are happy to announce the launch of the digital version of the IIMB Archives -- <https://www.iimb.ac.in/archives/>

The initiative to set up the IIMB Archives was mooted in June 2017 beginning with the History Project to document the institute's trajectory of growth from its inception to the celebration of its Golden Jubilee in 2023. A series of publications, films, video/ audio outputs were released during the Golden Jubilee year and celebrations, all of which are available in the Archives.

The IIMB Archives aim to build a repository of multi-media records and documents – digital and physical, audio-visual, photographic, oral history narratives, among others, to capture the founding and evolution of the Institute, including its iconic architecture. The Archives also plan to loop in the trajectories of the larger business ecosystem and the city of Bangalore, which have shaped IIMB's unique journey. The IIMB Archives are a work in progress, and we are working towards building a full-fledged repository.

The IIMB Archives would serve as a rich repository for researchers and scholars interested in institutional and organisational development, business history, the formulation of policy, the advancement of strategic thinking, and many other inter-related fields and subjects.

Leading the team that is currently building the archives is Professor K. Kumar, joined by Usha K R, A R Ramesh and Vidula Mathew.

Do visit the archives at <https://www.iimb.ac.in/archives/> and write to us with your thoughts and suggestions at [archives\[at\]iimb\[dot\]ac\[dot\]in](mailto:archives@iimb.ac.in)

With best regards,
Dinesh Kumar
