Our Journey

We bring together C-suite Executives from major airline and aerospace companies from India and other countries. As the industry moves into more interesting times, with changes in geopolitical landscape, this is the time to share and discuss best practice with leaders in the Aviation and Aerospace sector.

We look forward to welcoming you to Bangalore in February, 2020.

“As much as policies are important for the sector, working with the right set of talent, managers and ability to incorporate the management culture in the industry plays a key role. The industry requires more start-up contribution, innovation and fresh talent, not limiting itself to engineers.”
