Post Graduate Programme in Enterprise Management (PGPEM) 2020-2022

Gold Medallist – First Rank Holder

Rohan Bajla, who is 37 years old, says that the IIMB programme provided an array of electives to choose from, thus giving him the scope of studying concepts across different disciplines. “I was lucky to have participated in three universities for the Global Network for Advanced Management experience, including Yale School of Management, where I have added global achievers to my network. I also got a chance to co-host talks as part of the LeaderSpeak Series with industry veterans. At the end of the first year, I received the Director Merit List award and scholarship.”

Rohan says his IIMB learning experience is sure to help his growth in the long term. “I had a diverse career across corporate roles and my own ventures. IIMB has provided me a structured and holistic learning of business. Ours was a special batch which endured the rough patch of COVID, but the college left no stone unturned to provide the same level of discussion-based learning in class. I will especially cherish the words of the professors who guided us along the two years, each providing a different approach to learning.”

Discussing his plans, he says: “The PGPEM course provides a platform to re-launch ourselves in the corporate world, and I hope to become a global leader. I also want to give back to society and adopt a more sustainable approach to growth. The course has provided ample opportunities to learn strategic leadership which I hope to apply in my future corporate challenges.”

Rohan's father is a qualified Chartered Accountant running his own business and his mother is an active Toastmaster. His wife is into Corporate Relations. They have a five-year-old son. His younger brother is an Actuary who is settled in Singapore.
